Underneath that, the words 'AZTECA HOTEL' are written in a large, stylized, blocky font with a blue outline and a light blue fill. Conduct / Safety

With a party of 30 young people, the overall success and enjoyment of the visit will depend largely upon the enthusiasm and good conduct of the participants. It will be vital that all are prepared to follow instructions and to conduct themselves with courtesy and respect for the staff, for one another and for local people/other tourists in the capital.

Conduct / Safety

These are a few simple rules but other instructions will be issued on a day – to – day basis and should be listened to and followed carefully.

- Never go around in groups of less than 4 and stick to meeting times and places.
- Always follow instructions given by school staff or venue staff.
- No vaping, alcohol or drugs.
- Never use bad language.
- Respect the hotel rules and respect other guests, it is a public hotel (everyone will be tired).
- Keep noise down in the hotel (we arrive very late at night)
- Stay in your own rooms and do not allow others to enter your room- your property is your responsibility.
- Always carry the hotel telephone number and other important numbers with you (save in your phone)
- Look after your own belongings – we cannot be responsible for things you lose or leave behind.
- Dress appropriately for a child of your age and for the typical British weather and for the activities– IE no revealing clothing, waterproof, comfortable shoes.
- Eat and drink appropriately. A lack of food or water will lead to you becoming ill and then spoiling the trip for both you and the staff member(s) who are there to look after you.
- Treat each member of our group with kindness and respect – no unpleasant teasing, gossiping or unfriendliness.
